

Facilitation Skills Workshop

featuring content from Design to Engage

3 days | 5 participants | 1 facilitator

This participatory workshop is offered within a small group setting and is a transformational experience for both new and experienced facilitators.

Unique features of this workshop:

- Intensive (and fun!) experiential learning approach: you don't just hear about facilitating learning, you actually do it and then reflect on it.
- Each participant designs and facilitates three “mini-lessons”; one each day of the workshop.
- Each participant receives verbal, written and video feedback from the facilitator and other participants after their facilitation.
- Interactive theme sessions will draw from and expand upon adult learning concepts and strategies from Beth’s book, Design to Engage.
- All participants will be given a paperback copy of Design to Engage: How to Create and Facilitate a Great Learning Experience For Any Group.
- This is an in person workshop. Ideal locations to support a special experience for the group will be discussed upon booking.

This workshop meets the requirements of the well-known Instructional Skills Workshop. Participants will be given a certificate recognized by the ISW Network.
